Biographical Note

Kurt Friedrich Pantzer was born on August 21, 1892 in Indianapolis, Marion County, Indiana to Hugo Otto Pantzer of Wisconsin and Emma Schmidt of Germany. Pantzer married Katharine Ferriday on January 9, 1902 in Tippecanoe, Marshall County, Indiana. Kurt and Katharine had three children, Kurt Friedrich "Fritz" Pantzer Jr., Katherine "Kitzi" Pantzer, and Erie F. Pantzer. The family lived at 4310 North Meridian Street in Indianapolis.

Pantzer attended Wabash College and Harvard University (1909-1920); captain U.S. Infantry (1917-1919); lawyer in New York (1920-1922) and Indianapolis (1922-1979), associated with the firm of Barnes, Hickam, Pantzer and Boyd (1940-1975); lecturer, Indiana University School of Law (1955-1966); member, Republican National Finance Committee (1956-1966); finance chairman for Richard Nixon's 1968 Indiana primary campaign; chairman Indiana Republican Finance Committee, and co-founder of the Indianapolis Republican Finance Committee; served on board of directors of numerous companies, including the American States Life Insurance Company; trustee of Tudor Hall School, Indianapolis, and Butler University; active in civic and arts organizations, including the Herron School of Art and the Indianapolis Museum of Art.

Pantzer was an avid art collector. He amassed a collection of the 19th century English master, Joseph Mallord William Turner and his contemporaries. During the 1970s, he donated his private collection to the Indianapolis Museum of Art.

Pantzer passed away on July 8, 1979 in Indianapolis and is buried with his wife at Crown Hill Cemetery.

Scope and Contents

This collection includes political papers (circa 1940-1970s) relating to Pantzer's involvement in state and national Republican Party politics, and especially party finances, presidential campaigns of Robert Taft (1947-1952), Barry Goldwater (1964), and Richard M. Nixon (1968, 1972), support for Supreme Court appointment of Sherman Minton, involvement with foreign affairs organizations, including American Committee on United Europe and Council on Foreign Relations, and anticommunist work in Indiana and United States; legal papers, including those relating to his role in a dispute (circa 1940-1960s) between New York and New Jersey over Delaware River water rights, involvement with the writing of Uniform Commercial Code, work with National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, work with American, Indiana, and Indianapolis Bar Associations, settlement of estate of Meredith Nicholson, Jr., and law classes which he taught at Indiana University School of Law; and civic work papers, including material relating to conversion of Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis, to a peacetime military base, and to various Indianapolis and Indiana civic and educational organizations including Art Association of Indianapolis, Associated Colleges of Indiana, Butler University, Delta Tau Delta Fraternity, Indianapolis

Museum of Art, Indianapolis Theatre Association, John Herron Art Institute, Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra, Meridian Street Foundation, Tudor Hall School, and Wabash College.

Also includes family papers, including Pantzer's correspondence as a student at Wabash College and Harvard University (1909-1920), and as an army officer serving in Louisville, Kentucky (1917-1919), and letters (1878-1930s) from family members in Germany.
